
Boycott China

Posted by localchick - 2008/08/16 03:48

when the news first hit that the olympics were going to be in beijing, there was tons of buzz about boycotting. even the torch was protested.

but it seems like there is little boycotting or protesting going on now: the olympics are being watched and covered extensively.

are people just enjoying watching them or is the media not covering the protestors?

i personally thought i'd boycott these olympics, but i've been really sucked in by the quest of michael phelps...guilty.

=====